

WeCo Accessibility Services Named National Organization on Disability Employer for the Third Year in a Row

For Immediate Release

Minneapolis, MN - (October 8, 2021) - WeCo Accessibility Services has been named a National Organization on Disability (NOD) Employer for the third year in a row!

This prestigious award is given yearly to companies for their exemplary disability hiring and employment practices. With this recognition, NOD endeavors to shine a light on employers, like WeCo, that are committed to building an inclusive workforce by adopting exemplary employment practices for people with disabilities.

When asked what this award means for the company, President and Founder, Lynn Wehrman said, "Being a Leading Disability Employer is simply part of WeCo's business model. It demonstrates that professionals with disabilities have skills that are not only viable in the for-profit workplace, but the perspective they bring with those skills is necessary as companies work to be inclusive and comply with federal disability employment requirements.”

It is notable that WeCo is one of very few small businesses included on this highly respectable list, right alongside big hitters like Boeing, Dow, the Mayo Clinic, and Sony.

The services WeCo provides, as well as the example it sets for other employers nationwide is commendable, and this NOD designation is yet another example of the great work being done to advance accessibility and inclusion.

More About WeCo Accessibility Services

WeCo is a mission-based company that helps organizations and governments achieve real-life accessibility results through a team of professionals living with disabilities. All services are provided by Accessibility Specialists and trained usability Testers, who actually live with disabilities. Our team reflects the four recognized primary disability groups:

- Cognitive
- Hearing
- Mobility
- Sight

As a mission-based for-profit company that insists on creating opportunities for professionals who live with disabilities. Currently, 100% of WeCo’s support staff team also live with a disability.

More About the NOD Leading Disability Employer Seal

The NOD Leading Disability Employer Seal is a selective award given to companies demonstrating the positive outcomes in recruiting, hiring, retaining, and advancing people with disabilities in their workforces. To see current and past winners of the NOD Leading Disability Employer seal, visit www.NOD.org/seal.