

CAN DISABILITY BECOME A LEGAL EXPERTISE?

WeCo's digital experts leverage their disability life experience to help you become, and stay, legally compliant.

WeCo was founded by a government digital accessibility specialist who lives with a disability, and a group of her stakeholders, who do too. The work they did together gave them a keen understanding of legal compliance.

It also taught them that people living with disabilities understand their own accessibility needs better.

Better than software. Better than disability simulations.

In a world fixated on accessibility software, where legal compliance is urgent, surprisingly few people consult real users. Most accessibility companies describe their employees with disabilities in a footnote: Ex: "including individuals with disabilities"

WeCo connects you with digital experts who live with the very disabilities you are seeking to legally accommodate. Putting who they are, and what they know, out front and center.

Because experts living with disabilities are not afterthought at WeCo. They are our team.
